TOWN CRIER - WILMINGTON, MASS. OCTOBER 26, 1967

PRICE TEN CENTS

SEVENTEEN ARTICLES IN SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

There will be seventeen articles in the Warrant for the Special Town Meeting of November 20th.

The warrant has been put together, by the Board of Selectmen but is not yet complete, as there is still one article to be put in. The selectmen are waiting for an article from the Shawsheen Valley regional Vocational School before they sign the warrant. Signing might take place this weekend.

Article 1 is to purchase, again, the site of the old St Thomas Church. It has already been purchased by the Town several times but this is apparently to clear up some legal point.

Article 2 is to authorize the Permanent Building Committee to construct a new library, on the site of old St Thomas Church.

Article 3 is to authorize the construction of a new elementary school on land at the corner of Hopkins Street and Shawsheen Ave. The school cost, it is reported, will be $1,925,000.

Article 4 is asking the town to appropriate an additional $25,000 for the construction of the addition to the Woburn Street School. The money is to play for additional rock blasting, according to reports.

Article 5 is going to ask the Town to purchase the Davis Chicken Farm, on Glen Road, and by the Wildcat Railroad, for new school sites. 39 acres in area, the cost is said to be $35,000.

Article 6 is a request for an amendment to the By Laws of Wilmington, on request of the Town Counsel, so as to better regulate the parking or storing of unused and junk motor vehicles.

Article 7 asks that $30,000 be transferred from Veterans Aid, and $12,500 from another account, for Medical Assistance, in the Welfare Department.

Article 8 will be for the Shawsheen Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School.

Article 9 will ask that the Selectmen and Town Manager be authorized to enter into negotiations with the Federal Urban Renewal authorities, relative to the drainage and other programs in Wilmington.

Article 10 will ask that the Se-

LWV to Hold By-Law Meeting with Town Officials

Several town officials have accepted an invitation from the Wilmington League of Women Voters to speak on how our present By-Law affects their respective offices.

The League is making a study of the Town By-Laws and Charter to see what is in them, what can be in them and what should be in them. In addition, a study of other towns which have recently revised or rewritten their By-Laws will be made for purposes of comparison.

The public is invited to attend the meeting, which will be held at the American Legion Hall next Wednesday evening at 8:15.

Officials who have indicated that they will attend are Town Manager Sterling Morris, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen James Miceli, Finance Committee Chairman Bruce MacDonald, Planning Board Chairman Daniel Gillis, Town Moderator Simon Cutter, Police Chief Paul Lynch and Building Inspector Roy McClanahan.

Money Orders Stolen from Elia's

Midnight thieves, who climbed onto the roof of Elia's Market in North Wilmington last weekend cut a hole through the roof and escaped with 79 postal money orders and postage stamps and cash amounting to about $300 in value.

Along with the money orders the thieves stole a machine for punching out the amounts of cash value of the orders, and the official stamp used to validate the money orders. If each money order were to be made out for $100, the maximum amount, the theft could amount to $7900.

The theft was discovered Friday morning. A drill was used to cut a hole through the roof, with fourteen holes in one direction and fourteen more holes being drilled at right angles to the first set. The boards were then knocked through, presumably with a hammer.

First 'Astromice' Shipped for Lunar Testing

'ASTROMICE' for NASA from CHARLES RIVER BREEDING LABORATORIES: For Lunar Receiving Laboratory, Astromice are bred in sterile isolators at the Charles River Breeding Laboratories on Ballardvale St. Initial nucleus stocks for breeding are derived by Caesarean section at Charles River and shipped to businesses, governments, schools and hospitals throughout the world within twenty-four to thirty-six hours.

The first of almost 2000 'astromice' to be tested for reactions to lunar material were shipped Tuesday from the Charles River Breeding Laboratories of Wilmington to NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston.

The total shipment is to be part of a broader research contract awarded Charles River to supply NASA detailed physiological characteristics of mice—down to single cell. Data gathered from these studies are expected to aid scientists for years to come in making meaningful evaluations of the reactions of mice exposed to lunar material compared to control animals, not exposed to these samples. Dr. Henry L. Foster CRBL Pres stated that NASA will receive 750 germfree mice, 600 mice exposed to known bacteria and about 600 conventionally born mice. NASA scientists at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory will then initiate controlled physiological studies to ready the mice for exposure to lunar samples. The lunar material will be brought back aboard future Apollo Command Modules.

Prior to delivery to NASA, all animals will be individually marked for weights, known birth dates and diets. Extensive testing at The Charles River Breeding Laboratories will include daily accumulation of data relating to bacteriology, anatomy, physiology, histology, and electron microscopy. Chromosome, immunological and skin grafting studies are also being conducted.

Tests will continue at Houston so that NASA scientists can thoroughly familiarize themselves with the animals. These will be designed to 'demonstrate the feasibility of conducting the mice in 'Class 3' biological cabinetry and to evaluate efficiency of overall protocol in detecting replicating organisms'. A NASA contractor, trained at Charles River, will be technical supervisor of the project. The mice will be housed in special inflated isolators.

The Charles River Breeding Laboratories is the world's largest producer of mice and rats for the pharmaceutical industry, national health institutes, medical schools and hospitals. They ship laboratory animals all over the world from Wilmington Mass Facilities and a subsidiary in Elbeuf, France

Strange how in the days when there were so very few doctors, house calls were the order of the day. Now that there are hundreds of medicos being graduated every year, the old house call is becoming passe. Even the office call by the patient is being regulated to take just a few minutes.

The reason for all this, of course, lies in the population boom, which put the onus on the doctor to the extent that he must make every moment count, especially the preliminary exam, which could be a huge waste of time.

Specialization makes possible the fast accurate diagnosis in the office... what with specialists who can be called in to prognosticate complications. It all constitutes medical streamlining in order to care for more people and more serious cases in the proper manner.

Folks must be patient and conform to modern practice these days; after all, everyone does want to spend less time at the doctor's.

But for today, for fast efficient service and reliable prescription filling, come to Silver Lake Pharmacy, located at 52 Main Street. Is it now 8 PM and you forgot to call 658-4617 earlier for your prescription? Well, don't worry - there's still plenty of time, because we're open from 9 AM to 10 PM every day. Free parking also.

Selectmen's Meeting

Declaring the situation to be an emergency, the Board of Selectmen on Monday night voted to repair a portion of Garden Avenue, a street that leads from King St to the Glen Road School.

Two ladies, residents of Garden Avenue, initiated the action when they appeared at the meeting to discuss the water problems of the street, from Lee Street to the school. The street, they declared was impassable at times to youngsters who use it on their way to the Glen Road School. They also reported that autos are using the pedway.

Town Manager Sterling Morris told the ladies of the background to having the street completed under the Betterment Plan. The last price, he said, was $25,000.

The ladies were not interested in betterments. They did not seek a paved street. They sought only a safe passage for school children.

Selectmen George Boylen and Paul Niles thought the case warranted emergency action, since no one wanted to force children to use the alternative route, Glen Road, where there are no sidewalks, and where there may be high snow drifts this winter. Niles suggested that gravel be put in as an emergency measure, and that action for a permanent measure be taken in the annual Town Meeting solely because the street was an access to the school. The vote was unanimous.

who represented Benevento.

According to Harding he had done his work diligently, and it appeared that Mr Benevento did not want to meet with him.

He had talked the situation over with the Town Counsel, he said, and Mr Altman, the Town Counsel, had, for his first recommendation that a hearing be held by the Selectmen next Monday, to determine the status of the Benevento gravel pit; that the operator should show cause as to why the gravel was being removed over permit limitations; and secondly, the recommendation was that the Building Inspector should shut down the operations of the pit immediately. The third recommendation was that the Town Counsel should seek an injunction to close operations immediately.

The Selectmen voted to send a registered letter to the Benevento gravel pit, notifying the operator of the hearing next Monday.

Ballardvale Street

The long story of Ballardvale Street, where it was proposed to spend Middlesex County money half a dozen years ago in Essex County on Chapter 90 work, had another episode Monday.

Mrs Drew, commenting on the problems of Frank Barcellos, of 4 Ballardvale Street, who has been unable to complete his front lawn because of the unsettled status of the old project, reported that Town Counsel Altman had said that there

THE LADIES WON THEIR POINT: Mrs Ruth Cook and Mrs Rita Elmstrom of Garden Avenue tell the Selectmen why something should be done for the children, at Garden Avenue.

In the background is Town Engineer Arthur Harding, in his uniform as a Warrant Officer in the US Army Reserve.

Chairman Jim Miceli was absent from the meeting, in Washington representing the Town of Wilmington in a seminar being conducted by Senator Ted Kennedy. Mrs Drew charmed the meeting in his absence.

Gravel

Town Engineer Arthur Harding reported to the board that an appointment in his office for Oct 17th with the operator of the Benevento gravel pit in North Wilmington was not kept by that gentleman. He had called Mr Benevento on the 19th and was told that he had been waiting in his own office for Harding. Harding told the Selectmen that he had then set a date for Oct 23, between noon and one pm, and he was told that he should contact Atty Ernest Nigro of Wakefield, was a lot more work to be done.

The County Commissioners, she said, had made some land takings for the town. Part of the takings had been settled, and some of them had not been. Mr Altman was working on the problem, Mrs Drew reported.

Other Business

Carlo Gubellini, Chairman of the Library Trustees, was scheduled to appear. It was reported to the Selectmen that the Library plans were not complete, and that the applications for Federal Funds which have to be delivered by Oct 31st to the Federal Government, were not complete.

The application, the Selectmen were told, is to be completed by the Town Manager, and will then be signed by the Selectmen, and

The Town Manager reported on the schedule of Highway Work. The last street mentioned by the TM was Burlington Avenue, where a major project of reconstruction under the provisions of Chapter 90 is in progress.

Morris reported that the first coat of bituminous concrete had been laid, and that no more of the material would now be laid until next spring. The Highway Department, he said, would be working instead on the sidewalks.

Niles brought out that there was a telephone pole, standing in the middle of the newly paved surface of Burlington Avenue, near the home of James Nichols. He thought it was very dangerous to leave it there.

After some discussion the selectmen voted to send a letter to the telephone company saying in effect that the town has always gone along with requests to have poles moved, made by that company, but that it would consider no more such requests until the pole was moved.

There was a letter from the Mobil Oil Company, notifying the town that Mrs Mary Archibald, widow of the former operator of the Tri Town gas station on Lowell Street has now leased the station.

Rico Catalano, of the Pop Warner League (football) appeared with a request that the league be given permission to install lights on two posts which have been installed in back of the high school for the purpose of carrying electric power lines to the new Football Scoreboard. The work is to be done by a licensed electrician, Catalano said. The board gave permission.

The auctioneer's license of George Wilson was renewed.

The Selectmen decided that the Town Meeting of November 20th should be held in the High School Gymnasium, and then ran into a debate on how many chairs should be rented for the Town Meeting. The chair rent would be 18¢ each, they were told, plus costs of installing and taking out. The selectmen decided on 750 chairs.

Mrs Drew reported that she and Mr Boylen had inspected the Pedway to the Whitefield School, and had found that people are driving cars on it. The police will be notified.

New Business

Selectman Black called attention to a hedge, on property on Middlesex Avenue near Clark Street, which he thought was dangerous, and also to the condition of the highway fence on Clark Street, at Mill Brook. The TM is to take care of the situation.

The publisher of the Town Crier who was present, was asked to explain the limits of the land he hopes to purchase in the Special Town Meeting.

Dog Leash Law

Three ladies, representing the Canine Control Committee, which has put an article into the Warrant for the Special Town Meeting, appeared to explain their position.

Mrs James Piscatelli, Mrs Christian Bachman and Mrs Robert Bruno told the Selectmen that they had investigated the workings of the Dog Leash Law in several other towns, and found that it was operable.

They declared that the figure of $30,000, which was given out in a previous Town Meeting as the cost of enforcing the law, had no real foundation, and that the towns they had investigated were able to enforce the law with no increase in salaries for the Dog Officer. Wilmington's Dog Officer, the ladies said, received more money than did others where the law is being enforced.

It was clear that the ladies were not seeking a literal and binding enforcement of the law, but rather enforcement where there were

Many of you were fortunate enough to hear Mrs Virginia Law speak on her life in the Congo on Sunday at the Methodist Church. Virginia is a very impressive speaker with a most impressive life to date. She lived among the cannibals with her missionary husband, who was killed in the Civil War in the Congo and now she has a son going there to be a missionary also after he finishes his agricultural schooling this year. May God Bless these people that are able to give so much of themselves for the world.

The Hobgoblins will be out this Halloween night, and the MYFers of the Wilmington Methodist Church will welcome all the children to the MYF Spook House at the Wesley House at 99 Church Street from 6:30 to 8:30 for 25¢.

We understand that a happy reunion took place last Wednesday in Spokane Washington, occasioned by the birth of little Michele Lyn Stickney, reported elsewhere in this issue. Two delighted grandmothers Helen Yenfile of Lowell St and Elaine Stickney of Linda Road flew out and visited with Sgt Bill and Lorraine Stickney. Michele Lyn arrived slightly earlier than expected on October 6, but is doing well. Sgt Stickney is a Trek Instructor in the Air Force Rescue and Survival Program teaching enlisted and commissioned flight personnel how to survive when downed in unfamiliar territory. Lorraine and Bill expect to be back in Wilmington after his discharge from the service in time for Christmas. The flying grandmothers are on cloud nine!

We made it. We found out what was going on at the Congo Church A Fiesta on November Fourth from ten to five. The tables at the Fiesta will be white elephant, knitting, food, aprons, Christmas old books and records, plants, penny candy, woodworking and children's.

A snack bar featuring chili will be open all day and a Tea Room is planned as a Mexican Market Place, with an Art Exhibit and a Children's Story Hour. There will be a special feature--Pony Rides for the kiddies. The Fiesta is being held by the Ladies Benevolent Society with the help of other church members. This year the special organization for the Fair is being done by the Twigs a branch of the LBS.

This is different folks. And it should be a good take-in for some more Christmas shopping!

John Hamilton says that Wilmington High Students finishing school next year and planning on entering college in 1969 can register now to participate in the 1968-69 National Merit Scholarship Program. John is the Guidance Counselor and Director at WHS. The qualifying test will be given in the high school at 9 am on Saturday Feb 24, 1968. Participating students will pay a $1 fee and on the test day an added $1 for special administrative costs of testing on a nonschool day.

When his NMSQT scores are reported, each participating student will receive a handbook to help him interpret his scores. The highest scoring students in each state will be named Semifinalists and will be eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration. About 15,800 students have won Merit Scholarships in the twelve Merit Programs to date. Some 2450 were awarded in 1967...and Wilmington has a semi finalist this year!

John Horton is Dead

John C Horton of 319 Andover Street passed away on October 23rd at the Tewksbury Hospital, after a brief illness. A resident of Wilmington all his life, he was 76 years old.

The son of the late Howard C. Horton, of Wilmington, he is survived by one brother, Clifford, of Chelmsford.

An accident, when he was a three year old boy, affected the whole life of John Horton, who was always called 'Tony' by many Wilmington residents. It is said that he accidentally drank some kitchen lye.

The result was an infirmity that caused an impediment in his speech and prevented him from receiving an adequate education. He lived as a carpenter's helper, handy man and errand boy. He was, in his own way, one of the town wits, and was deeply appreciated by the sympathetic people of Wilmington.

Yet he was the victim of many cruel pranksters, in his life.

Many are the stories that are told of John. He would be sent to the bank to make change, and it was a joke in the bank to offer him the wrong change, just to hear him demand the rightful money.

In spite of the terrible impediment to his speech he could be understood, and his sayings were often repeated around town.

One of the favorite tricks that pranksters would play on John was to inveigle him onto an 'ice-raft' in the days when Silver Lake ice was harvested for the family refrigerators in Wilmington and elsewhere.

Large floes of ice would be cut in the 'pond' and drifted down to where machinery would take the pieces up into an 'ice-house' where the ice would be stored until the summer time.

John would be persuaded somehow, to get on a raft, and then the raft was pushed out into the 'pond' and he would stand there, unable to get ashore, and plead with the men on the pond to let him get ashore.

Each time the raft with John on it drifted close to the edge of the pond men with ice peavies would push it out again, before John could get off.

It was cruel, and it was never done when Walter Hale, who owned the ice-houses, and who hired the men for the work, was around.

Walter Hale detested the practice.

Another cruel trick was played on him in 1915, at the time when the present home of John Slattery on Glen Road was being built for the late George Spanos, 'Honorary Mayor of Wilmington'.

John had gone along to help his father, who was the carpenter who was building the house. JHoward on one occasion was engaged in 'hipping' the roof, which means he was putting up timbers to form the roof.

The roof timbers had already been cut to the desired shape. It was John's job to stand them on end, so that they projected beyond the second story, where Howard would pick them up, put them in place, and then nail them in place.

Some laborers were digging a well for Mr. Spanos, in back. It was eight feet deep, but dry.

John ventured over to look down the well, and he was pushed in.

He spent several hours in that dry well. The laborers, without a boss to keep them busy, spent their time instead in putting the timbers in place, so that Howard was well supplied with work.

Suspecting nothing, John's father kept busily at work until noon time. Then he descended to the ground and discovered what had been done to his son!

John's wit was well appreciated. When the first passenger bus came through Wilmington he was heard to exclaim 'Ho Ho, - That's the end of the Street Cars!'

No one believed him. It wasn't the end of a time honored institution, everyone was certain. But John was right - and in a few years there were no more street cars.

The whole town chuckled about it - how John was right and the town was wrong.

Perhaps the last quote on John was at the time of the first Daly barn fire, a couple of years ago. He and Mrs Daly, both advanced in years, were seated on the front porch by friends, who didn't want either of them to see the fire.

There they were, in the darkness, but with friends nearby, when an electrician who had been called to cut the electrical wires leading to the barn went up to the porch and asked the two shapes, seated there: 'How do I get up to the second story?'

John's answer was clear. 'You go up the stairs!' he said.

And now he is dead. The cruel pranksters had their fun, but the knowing people of Wilmington always had a lot of sympathetic affection for the man who had had his life ruined by a childhood accident.

The funeral services were held yesterday, in the Nichols Funeral Home, with the Rev. H. Allen Taggell of the Congregational Church officiating. Burial took place in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS ALMA LUNDBORG
DIED AT AGE OF 93

Mrs Alma (Forsen) Lundborg of Taft Road passed away suddenly at her late residence last Saturday, October 21st at the age of 93.

Born in Smoland, Sweden, Mrs Lundborg had lived in Wilmington for the past 45 years. She was the widow of George Lundborg, and the mother of Mrs Hildur Drahelm of Taft Road, Mrs Marie Dean of Lakeville, Conn., and Allen Lundborg of Winchester. Four grandchildren and a brother, Erick Forsen of Sweden also survive.

Mrs Lundborg had been active in the WSCS of the Wilmington Methodist Church, and was a member of the Wilmington Golden Age Club.

Funeral services were held from the Nichols Funeral Home 187 Middlesex Avenue, on Monday at 2 pm with the Rev. Willis Miller of the Wilmington Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery, with the Rev. Mr. Miller offering the committal service. Funeral arrangements were by the Nichols Funeral Home.

American Chestnut Burs After Fifty Years of Blight

It was about 50 years ago that the last American Chestnut was seen in Wilmington, or for that part in most if not all of the United States.

Once very common, the American Chestnut is not the tree of which the poet Longfellow sang. That was (and still is) the Horse Chestnut, more familiarly called the Buckeye. The Horse Chestnut has large inedible nuts. The American Chestnut has two or three small nuts with a very nice flavor, inside a bristly pouch or sac, called a bur.

The bur in which the nuts grow is to all intents and purposes burglar proof. Humans have difficulties in opening them because of the many spines, and squirrels can not. But after the first frost the burs open by themselves and the nuts fall to the ground, to become food for wildlife, humans, and, in the farming areas, for the hogs.

The nuts have to be found - scattered among the fallen leaves, but that is not too difficult a task. They are delicious when roasted.

Farmers would turn the hogs on the farm loose for a week or so after the first frost, to let them find the nuts. Then they were penned up again, before they could start uprooting the trees.

Chestnuts (American) had a very definite part of the economy of early New England. The wood does not readily rot or decompose. All the early New England farmhouses were framed in chestnut beams, and those beams for the great part are as good as they were when cut, 250 or 300 years ago.

FIRST PHOTO OF A CHESTNUT BUR IN FIFTY YEARS? Arthur Bureau holds a Chestnut Bur up against the tree, which is located in East Wilmington. Exact location of the tree is not being disclosed until the Conservation Commission has had an opportunity to discuss it.

When the telephone and electric light poles began to spread over New England, chestnut was again the favorite material - again because it would not rot. There aren't many left now, but 50 years ago, every telephone pole in Wilmington was of chestnut.

The chestnut trees grew to be nearly 100 feet tall, with spreading branches. The leaves were long and narrow.

And it was in World War I, about 1917, that the Chestnut Blight started destroying trees, in New England.

A beautiful chestnut tree stood, in 1917, near the home of Claude Thompson, on Harnden Street, now the St. Dorothy's Rectory. There was a plentiful crop of chestnuts from that tree that year.

In 1918 the tree was gone - killed by the blight.

The blight is a fungus, which fills the pores of the tree, and appears to a limited degree on the outside of the bark - a brown evil looking line of small sacs. Once attacked, a tree is dead within a couple of months.

But the blight never affected the roots of any of the trees.

For years, in Wilmington and elsewhere, the old stumps of the American Chestnut trees have been attempting to put forth new shoots. The woodlands of this town have always had these shoots, growing hopefully, only to die in four or five years when attacked by the blight.

About eight or ten years ago a chestnut tree was growing about where the home of Gordon Richmond of North Street now stands. It grew to be six or eight years old, at least. The diameter of the trunk reached four inches, and then it died.

For the past several years a chestnut tree has been growing near Kingdom Hall, the church for the Jehovah's Witnesses, on Bridge Lane. It is now several inches in diameter. This fall, for the first time, the tell-tale brown sacs of the Chestnut Blight appeared on the bark.

So it was with considerable surprise, and an overtone of disbelief that the Town Crier heard the story of Arthur Bureau of West Street last Saturday.

Wilmington Police Helped Capture Reading Suspect

Wilmington police, on Sunday morning, together with Tewksbury police, played a part in the capture of a 25-year-old Boston man, suspected of being one of the persons who broke into a Reading market and stole $687.

Jay R Gibbons of Allston, formerly of Revere, was captured at gun point in Andover, after a chase up Route 93 at 115 mph, and through the streets of Wilmington and Tewksbury. He was ordered held in $5000 bail in Woburn Court on Monday.

A second man, who was with Gibbons, escaped into the woods, near the Tewksbury-Andover line. Police believe they know his identity.

The two men, according to the Reading Police, cut a hole in the roof of the Atlantic Supermarket in Reading and lowered themselves into the store, where they blew open the safe and stole the money, wrapped in coin wrappers.

The blasting of the safe triggered an alarm in the police headquarters, and the Reading police arrived on the scene as the two men took off in their car for Route 93.

Police found the money and burglar tools in the car.

Chestnuts

Mr Bureau announced over the telephone that he knew of a real live American Chestnut - with with real chestnut nuts on the ground beneath it.

The Town Crier of course hurried over to the place where Mr Bureau said the tree was growing. It was true.

The tree was fifty feet high, and about eight inches in diameter. On the ground, near the tree, were empty chestnut burs - dozens of them.

Mr Bureau had already picked up a couple dozen of the nuts, and had planted them, near his home.

Sunday the tree was visited again this time in the company of Cindy Williams of the Wilmington Conservation Commission.

A thorough search was made of the ground, and Cindy bore a couple dozen nuts home with her, probably to turn over to the Conservation Commission.

For there is a slight possibility that if seedlings grow from these nuts, they might be immune to the blight. Only time will tell, and Cindy intends to turn over the nuts to the Conservation Commission for use by the State or Federal Conservation Service - if they want them.

'68 CHEVY II NOVA COUPE

The day of the plain Jane economy car has come and gone. Chevrolet has something far finer to offer.

LONG HOOD, SHORT DECK

You get your economy now under Nova's new swept-back roof. You get your engine dependability under Nova's new long hood. You get your rust prevention beneath Nova's new rounded fenders and larger body.

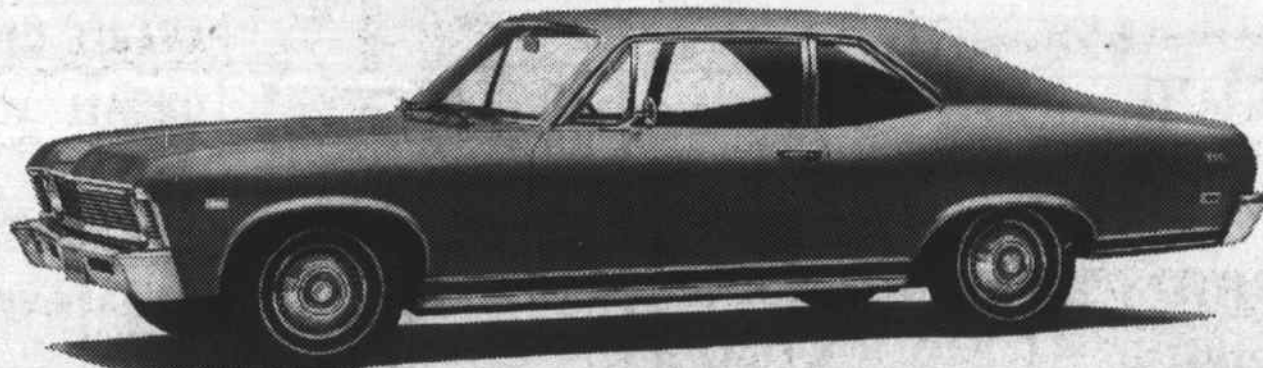

SUPERLATIVE RIDE

You get the smoothest in handling, too. The wheel stance is wider, the rear suspension has been redesigned, and there is a new cushion-mounted front end. Nova feels like it's a thousand pounds heavier. It rides with amazing silence and smoothness.

NEW ALL OVER

The grille is new. The interior is new. (There's even a special custom interior you can order, the likes of which no economy car has ever offered before.) The standard V8 is bigger, more powerful. So is the standard Six with its new Monojet carburetor that contributes to greater efficiency, economy and performance. There are many new safety features, including energy-absorbing front seat backs to go along with the proved GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column. And when you equip a Nova with the SS package, you look out over a special hood and black accented grille, housing a 350-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire V8.

Front to back, Chevy II Nova's now a driving enthusiast's kind of car but, fortunately for you, it still comes at a saving enthusiast's kind of price. Very low.

For so little: $2261⁰⁰

Manufacturer's suggested retail price for standard Six Chevy II Nova Coupe shown above includes Federal Excise Tax, suggested dealer delivery and handling charges. Model shown above equipped at additional cost with Custom Exterior $84.30, White Walls $31.35, Wheel Covers $21.10. Transportation charges, accessories, optional equipment, state and local taxes additional.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Planning Board

Members of the Planning Board were quite happy about their progress, on the preparation of an official map for Wilmington, in Tuesday night's meeting.

They met for two and a half hours with Professor Charles Elliot of Harvard University and his assistants, Charles Downes, Steve Bartlett, and a newcomer to the discussions at least as far as appearance is concerned, Charles Thomas, a twenty-one-year-old senior at MIT. Also present for the discussion was the Town Manager.

The purpose of the map is to eliminate 'paper' streets, which are in fact in woods and swamps but appear on the map of Wilmington as streets. An elaborate survey had been conducted by Messrs Bartlett, Downes and Thomas on the non-existent streets of Wilmington, with any houses noted by marking on the maps. The discussion Tuesday night was of the streets found to have no homes, or just a few. The maps prepared for the Planning Board have had the streets color coded for this purpose.

A technical report is now to be prepared, of the work done by Professor Elliot and associates, and fifty copies will be printed for the use of the various town officials. It will be ready in a few days.

As a further project in the so-called 701 Project, Town Engineer Arthur Harding proposed to the board, Tuesday, that a new aerial survey be taken of Wilmington.

Harding had with him a new map now being prepared for Woburn as the result of such a survey, which he showed to the Planning Board and Professor Elliot. Photographs were put onto a photo on a one-inch to one hundred feet scale, and Ozalid prints could be readily made of those photos, the Engineer said. The cost for the prints would total about twenty five cents apiece.

One hundred fifteen such prints would cover the Town of Wilmington, Harding said, and total cost for the flight, photos and enlargements would come to less than $3200.

As a secondary result the town could also get both contour maps and assessors maps from the same flight, Harding said. He did not know the prices that would be charged, but he did show samples of maps of North Woburn.

The maps were produced by computers, working on the photographs. The contour maps showed two-foot contours, and the height of individual high spots. The assessors maps were remarkably clear.

Town Manager Sterling Morris remarked that the maps were of 'prime importance', and was much in favor of getting a set for Wilmington. The Town Engineer then added that such maps would be of great value for such projects as planning sewerage mains, and similar work.

Elliot told the Planning Board that he was proceeding with a study of the traffic at Lowell Street and Woburn Street.

He also told the board that it should have a new survey of the town owned land, to bring the list up to date with respect to Tax Title and other town owned property.

A new Recreation Map was recommended by Elliot as a project. In a discussion of the various Recreation Area projects now pending Chairman Danny Gillis declared that the first priority should go to the area to the eastward of Hathaway Acres and Esquire Estates. Planning for the implementation of this area must be completed, Gillis said, before November 9th.

Professor Elliot was asked to make comments on the three rezoning articles in the warrant for the November 20th Special Town Meeting. A map showing the areas will be prepared for the professor by Steve Bartlett.

After Elliot and party left the Planning Board got around to what Gillis called 'Barber Shop Business'--treating with each of half a dozen individuals who had questions to ask or debate with the Board.

The first was the easiest. Atty Fred Corum was looking for a map he had submitted for signing by the board last September. The Town Engineer said he was looking to find the man who had submitted the map.

It would be left in the Town Hall Wednesday morning, Harding said, and Corum departed satisfied.

Next was Atty Roland Wood. Mr Wood wanted to discuss the proposed rezoning of land at Woburn and Lowell Streets for a Motel, plus the proposed change in the Zoning by law to allow Motels.

The conversation went on for half an hour or more. Wood told the Board that the changes in the Building By Law a couple of years ago had described a Motel, in words that he believed to be adequate.

A Motel, according to Mr Wood clearly was a place with a restaurant and other facilities for the public, in addition to sleeping areas. Hedidn't want to see any place in Wilmington with only five or ten rooms.

Gillis told Wood that, as a board the Planning Board did not want to get involved with the use of the word Motel.

From a planning viewpoint, he said they were interested in location and size of any proposal. Wood offered to send a statement to the board, offering definitions which the Planning Board will analyze.

Earl Hamilton, owner of land on both sides of Route 62 in North Wilmington was the third person to be heard, in Gillis' Barber Shop. The land that Mr Hamilton owns might be rezoned, according to one of the articles submitted for the Special Town Meeting. The Planning Board wants to change the land from Residential 'B' (10,000 foot lots) to Residential 'A' (22,500 foot lots).

Hamilton asked that the Planning Board reconsider its proposal for that portion of his land which lies south of Route 62. There wasn't enough room there, he said, to put in 22,500 foot lots.

He had no objections about the area of Route 62. There was more room.

Lawrence Fiske of Church St was next for the 'Barber Treatment'. He was put in the chair at 9:50 pm.

Mr. Fiske owns property in Andover, with the entrance driveway in Wilmington, off Ballardvale Street.

He wanted to make changes in his Andover property. The Andover Building Inspector would not give him a permit without assurance that there had been no changes in the Wilmington Zoning By Law affecting the area, or in any Drive way Law affecting the area.

'That's Easy!' said Gillis. He dictated a letter to the Andover Building Inspector, assuring that gentleman that there had been no changes. 'Next!'

The next person was Carlo Gubellini, Chairman of the Board of Library Trustees.

Mr. Gubellini had with him pictures and plans of the proposed new library to be erected at the old St Thomas site. The plans were not yet complete, he said, but he wanted the Planning Board to be aware of what was being proposed.

It was remarked that this was the first time that anyone had tried to show the Planning Board what was proposed for a library, before the Town Meeting voting on such a proposal.

The sketches which Mr. Gubellini showed had a modified colonial type of building, set not quite parallel to Middlesex Avenue, with one end being about 48 feet from the street and the other being about 70 feet from the street.

A horseshoe pattern driveway led from the street to the rear of the building, where there is planned a parking lot, and then out onto Middlesex Avenue again after going around the building. A lot of time was spent discussing the optimum width that should be set for those driveways.

The building is planned to be of two stories, with a total area of 14,910 square feet. It is to be erected on a concrete slab.

The second floor is to have a children's section, which can be closed off from the rest of the library, and also area for the staff and a General Purpose room capable of seating 75 persons. There also would be a smaller room, which was labeled the Historical Room.

Gubellini said that the projected cost was about $500,000. The final figures were not yet in. He hoped to include complete air conditioning in this cost.

The Library, he assured the Planning Board, would be adequate to serve the town for at least ten years. The population now was about 16,000, and he stated that the population increase is now slowing down to less than 500 persons a year. It has been doing this he said for several years.

The parking area that he showed on the sketches did not include the land purchased from the Grange Hall Corporation. He said, in response to a question, that there was no plans for a driveway through the Grange property to Wildwood Street, and thought that this was a question which was in the province of someone other than the Library Board--perhaps the Selectmen.

There will be, he said, lighting for the parking area--probably lights from the upper portion of the Library.

Mr. Gubellini was the last person to occupy the 'Barber's Chair'. He left after about an hours conversation.

Temple Street

Gillis read a letter from the Jackson Brothers, in which that firm agreed to include Temple Street (off Lowell Street) in their proposed subdivision to be known as Allen Park.

The Planning Board a couple of weeks ago told the Jackson Bros that they would not approve of the subdivision unless there was another entrance street. The Temple Street proposal was the answer to that statement. The Jackson Brothers said that they would construct a street with a travelled width of 32 feet and sidewalks that being the maximum width allowed by the property lines.

The members of the board were all smiles as Gillis read the letter.

Other Business

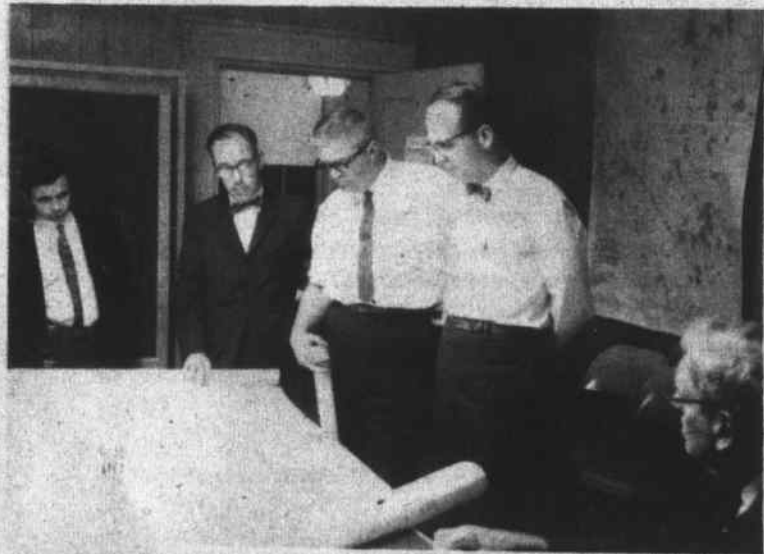

A letter was received from a Mr Brogna of Dorchester wanting to purchase from the town Parcel 83 on Assessor's Map 67. The land is on Broad Street, off Glen Road. Brogna offered $500 for land assessed at $1300.

Inasmuch as there is already a proposal to purchase Parcel 82A adjoining Parcel 83, which has twice been considered by the Planning Board, and has been the subject of much discussion, the proposal to purchase Parcel 83 caused some excitement. Mr Brogna stated that he was the owner of Parcel 84.

The Planning Board was unaware that Parcel 83 was owned by the Town, and decided that they wanted more information before acting.

A Land Court Plan for 24.7 acres of land off Industrial Way, in South Wilmington was signed. The land is to be purchased by another industry from the DiCenso Brothers.

The meeting ended at 11:45 pm and the members congratulated themselves on being able to get out before midnight. There will be no meeting next week.

PROPOSAL FOR THE WILMINGTON DEVELOPMENT COMPANY was viewed last week by Chairman Danny Gillis of the Planning Board and Town Manager Sterling Morris. Cosmo Caterino, owner of the company, can just be seen, at right.

The company proposes to rezone land between Concord Street and Middlesex Avenue, along the railroad, to Industrial.

The Town Crier's January Subscription Date System is now a Daddy!

A Special Message To STAR SUBSCRIBERS

With the beginning of the year 1968, The Star will embark on a program designed to have all subscriptions fall due on Jan. 1 of each year. During the year 1968, subscribers will be billed for the amount necessary to extend their subscriptions to Jan. 1, 1969.

For example: A subscriber whose subscription expires on July 1, 1968, will be billed for six months and his subscription will be extended to Jan. 1, 1969. From that point on, his subscription will be due and payable at the beginning of the calendar year.

There are several reasons for this. It will greatly simplify bookkeeping and billing procedures in The Star office. All subscribers will know automatically when their subscriptions expire, and won't need to wonder if their subscriptions are due.

Most important, however, is that the new plan will eliminate the necessity for billing subscribers at all. In the past, The Star has sent three subscription notices to each subscriber before cancelling the subscription. Cost of postage alone has run into several hundreds of dollars each year, to say nothing of the cost of stationery and clerical expense. And costs will go even higher when postal rates are raised, as they most surely will be.

Under the new plan, no subscription statements will be mailed. Several ads in the paper each January will remind subscribers that subscriptions are due. If the subscriptions have not been paid by the middle of March, they will be cancelled.

The Plan Will Work This Way:

To set the plan up, subscription billings during the year 1968 will be pro rated on the number of months due until Jan. 1, 1969. Billings will be as follows:

MONTH YOUR SUBSCRIPTION EXPIRES:	SUBSCRIBERS IN COUNTY	SUBSCRIBERS OUT OF COUNTY
January	$3.00	$3.50
February	2.75	3.20
March	2.50	2.90
April	2.25	2.60
May	2.00	2.30
June	1.75	2.00
July	1.50	1.70
August	1.25	1.40
September	1.00	1.10
October	.75	.80
November	.50	.50
December	.25	.25

Subscribers whose subscriptions expire in the late months of 1968 may wish to add a full year's subscription to the amount due and pay to Jan. 1, 1970. This is perfectly all right. For instance, a subscription in the county expiring Nov. 1, 1968, can be paid to Jan. 1, 1970 with a remittance of $3.50. Out of the county, it would be $4.00.

Many subscribers give subscriptions to friends or relatives as birthday or anniversary gifts, and like to renew the subscriptions on the anniversary dates. This will be continued, but the donors should understand that no subscription statements will be mailed to them.

College students may continue to subscribe only for the school year. Those subscriptions will automatically be terminated in June.

The New Plan Can Be A Benefit To Both Of Us.
We Will Appreciate Your Cooperation In Making It Work.

We goofed last week, we understand. It was Edmund Deschenes who led the Boy Scout Troop 59 on their camping out weekend at the summer home of John Arvanitis and not Arthur Moore. Sorry about that, Boys!

The Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli Lodge of the Sons of Italy are holding their first Calendar Party on Nov 11 at the Grange Hall in Wilmington. Our Kiwanians visitin this week were Sol Fisher and his wife Shirley; Lt Gov John Cersasimo and his wife Marie and Joh Blount from Stoneham. Other guests were Parker Prindle and his wife Florence, Maureen Gittzus, Judy and John Bishop, the daughter and son in law of Hrold Garrett.

Pres Hayward Bliss asked John Cersasimo for a few remarks. Work is being done with the Chelmsford Club on awards to be given at the Wil-Chel game. Dave Hauser and Harold Garrett were formally installed by Sol Fisher. In the election, the officers will remain the same as last year. The Board of Directors elected were Charlie Bowman, Carl Bachman, Win Polsey, George Clark, Duncan MacLeod, Al Marfleet, Ben Hehn, and Russ Joseph. Wires Steering Com: Mrs Ruth Wood, Florence Polsey, May Bell Bliss, May Loppert and the door prize was won by Joyce Tadgell. The Board of Directors will meet on Oct 19 at Pres Hayward's Home.

I have some tickets for 'Come Blow Your Horn' a play being put on at the High School on Friday Oct 27 and Saturday Oct 28. This is sponsored by the Parents and Friends of Exceptional Children. Tickets are $2.00 and may be obtained from me, Doris at North Wilmington Pharmacy, or Marilyn Deschenes at 658-9696. These proceeds will go to buy very special equipment such as a record player or tape recorder or support field trips for our own special classes. Believe me, these parents are working their heads off for this thing. Let's see you all respond. Donate the $2.00, if you can't make the play... Mail it to Marilyn Deschenes, Washington Avenue, or drop it off to me... but the play is being presented by the North Shore Players and bound to be a good take-in... Bring the kids!

Hey, didya hear--Grant's is having an Invitation Nite on Monday, Oct 30 from 6 to 10 pm with door prizes and refreshments plus a ten per cent discount. This will be held at the Wilmington Store and this gal is well supplied with cards or invitations. So, drop in to the Depot--the old B & M STATION that is, and get yours. It's great fun. We had a ball last time and won a ten pr cent discount for the rest of the week by pulling a green ice cube out of the freezer...and that's no little saving for the clan, when all ten either outgrow or wear out their shoes at the same time. (We'll tell you a secret. We tape the shoes together or to their feet until the 10% discount time arrives. How about that, Mr. Aucello?)

FROM THE BOX SEAT

On paper the WHS Wildcats blew Burlington off the field Saturday. Bill Walls passed for over 100 yards on 10 completions in 15 attempts. Hank Devlin carried for 102 of Wilmington's 136 yards on the ground. The team made 17 first downs and was forced to punt only once.

The defense was near perfect, limiting the Red Devils to only one completion and four first downs throughout.

On the scoreboard, however, WHS managed victory by only one point, 7-6.

Following the opening kickoff, quarterback Walls hit Dick Gillis at the home team's 47 for a first down.

From there on, it was just about all Hank Devlin. The senior full-back lugged to the 11 on four line smashes sandwiched around a penalty. Dick Gillis then slashed to the four, and Devlin took it to the 2, and then in, two plays later. Placekicking end Mike Esposito split the uprights for what was to be the winning point.

Jim Brewster intercepted Burlington's first aerial and returned it into enemy territory at the 37. Walls passed to O'Connell for 11 and then ran the end to the nine. The drive was quickly killed by a fumble, giving the Devils possession.

Walls' passing and a flock of penalties got the ball right back to the BHS 3 after a long punt. Burlington's defense stiffened and Walls juggled the snap on a field goal try from the 21 just long enough to have it blocked.

Late in the second period, Burlington took over on their own 34 following a short punt. On second down, quarterback Leone struck for the bomb, combining with end Jimmy Lancaster for a 63 yard TD. Leone's pass for the conversion failed and the scoring for the day was complete.

Wilmington threatened several times in the second half, having a touchdown pass from Walls to Brewster called back; losing a fumble on the BHS 10; and finally seeing the clock terminate a game ending drive at the Burlington 4.

Chelmsford's wounded Lions visit Wilmington once beaten Wilmington this Saturday for a key tilt while the locals keep all fingers crossed, hoping that Burlington can be just as tough against undefeated Dracut.

The Jayvees also topped Burlington by a score of 26-14. Bob Quandt lumbered for 30 and 3 yard TD's, and Jim Tildsley and Jerry Lans raced for spectacular 60 and 50 yard scores, respectively. Red Kennedy and Gary Hebsch were outstanding all day, punishing the little Devils on defense.

Last Wednesday the WHS cross country team whipped Tewksbury 20-35. Ernie Taylor, Dave Knight, Charlie Arsenault, Frank Harrington and Chris Shea finished 2,3,4, 5 and 6. The undefeated jayvees also won, paced by Bob Hezliitt.

Saturday, a portion of the squad ran in the Catholic Memorial Invitational meet at White Stadium. Against formidable opposition the Wildcats finished in the upper half of the teams.

In a tir-team meet on Monday, a powerful Chelmsford team took the first four places and also the meet, 17-42. Frank Harrington's fifth place finish helped Wilmington to outpost Methuen 16-39.

UNRESERVED

The Pop Warner Chargers managed to keep their black helmeted heads above water by tying Burlington 6-6. The giant sized home team scored on six plays to open the contest, but were shut out thereafter by a plucky, well-drilled Wilmington defense. Mark Jepson tallied the equalizer for Connie Barry's kids, and was magnificent both ways all afternoon.

Neither team could make their extra points as they dropped into a second place deadlock behind once beaten, untied Swampscott.

GOOD DEED GIRLS: Youngsters living in the Shady Lane Drive area have found a way to cause the railroad crossing gates to be lowered, thus stopping automobile traffic. This trick is frequently pulled after school, just as Photon lets out.

The traffic tie-up wasn't the only result. The Police Cruiser which drove up the tracks had a flat tire, as a result of the sharp stone.

The Misses Nancy Marini of Shady Lane Drive and Shirley Ricci of Oakdale Road provided their own answer Tuesday evening, by standing under the gates and holding them up, thus relieving the traffic tie-up. The girls held the gates for nearly half an hour, until the source of the dilemma was found.

SELECTMEN

complaints. The attitude of the Selectmen however was different, those people seeming to feel that 'a law is a law'. The discussion lasted quite a long time.

The Selectmen felt that the law, with good intentions, would among other things, tend to prohibit hunting in Wilmington, as a dog had to be 'on a leash' or 'at heel'. They suggested to the ladies that there be amendments, to be offered on the Town Meeting floor, so as to allow hunting.

As the ladies were leaving they were informed that the article number would be No 13 for their proposed Leash Law.

Official Map

In making up the Warrant for the Special Town Meeting the Selectmen, last Saturday, did not include the Planning Board request for an article seeking the adoption of an Official Map.

Danny Gillis, chairman of the Planning Board, appeared to ask the reason for the omission.

Mrs Drew wanted to know how people who owned property on undeveloped streets would be able to get to their property. Gillis explained that under the Betterment Law they could develop the street.

Niles explained that he was against having the article on the Warrant at this time because he felt that the Planning Board was not ready, this after a talk with the Town Manager. Niles felt that the Planning Board needed a longer time to be certain that there were no errors, and he didn't want to see the work finished 'with a gun at somebody's head'. They should not be working against a deadline, Niles said, and he felt that it would be better to present the Official Map to the Town Meeting in March 1969.
